Before going on board last night, Greenwaldt said to a United Press reporter: "Whatever may be the result of the talk with the Washington authorities next spring, we shall return to our sealing possessions prepared to resist trespass of poachers on our preserves from all quarters. We shall have sufficient power from the Imperial Government of Russia, and if any British thief comes there in his sealing schooner we will catch him."

In this city the too officious rendering of orders by policemen has been repeatedly remarked. Yesterday evening there was another example of this. Lockup-keeper Smith told a man who was very slightly drunk to move on from the street, where building operations were going on. The man replied that he was doing no harm. Smith then threw him to the ground, and many bricks from the pile fell upon him. The policeman used him shamefully until several business men interfered and threatened to report the matter. Smith then allowed the man to go.

American Whitewood in Canada.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—Canadian lumbermen are becoming alarmed at the invasion of Canada by American whitewood, which is a species between soft elm and basswood. It is comparatively new in the lumber field, but during the past year an immense quantity of it has come into Canada. Last summer and this fall carloads of it have reached Montreal, and from there was sent to various parts of the country. As it has a handsome appearance, suitable for house finishing, and can be sold more cheaply, some of the lumbermen fear it may come into competition with Canadian pine. They think, therefore, the government should put on an import duty of $2 a thousand feet. When duties were last revised, whitewood was so little known that it was overlooked, and it now comes in free.

Halifax Harbor Defences.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 22.—The annual mobilization of the imperial forces took place yesterday. The infantry manned a number of posts in a line of defence against the attack upon Halifax by land of an imaginary foe. The forts in the harbor and the harbor approaches were in charge of the artillery. A torpedo boat that attempted twice to enter the harbor to-night, under cover of darkness, was discovered with the aid of powerful search lights and brought within range of the big guns of the forts. The authorities are satisfied as a result of the manœuvres that it would be impossible for an enemy to effect an entrance to the harbor by day or night without a severe overhauling.

The Northwest Indians in a Panic.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21.—Indians throughout the Canadian northwest are in a high state of excitement. They declare that two newborn infants in the Sarcee reserve, near the line of the Canadian Pacific railroad, have spoken and predicted a terrible storm would sweep the country in a very short time and destroy trees, houses and everything in its course. The absurd story was taken throughout the country by Indian runners, and the Indians are alarmed to such a degree that they are now all engaged in digging large pits to take refuge in when the storm comes. Neither white settlers nor missionaries can persuade the Indians that their fears are absurd.

Vernon Has a Tragedy.

VERNON, B.C., Oct. 22.—Yesterday about 6 p.m., the citizens of Vernon were greatly shocked by the news that some children had found a man lying apparently dead about a mile from the village. His throat was cut and a considerable quantity of blood was found on the floor of the shack occupied by Hesson and another man. It is supposed that Hesson cut his throat, walked about 300 yards to a creek, then fell exhausted. His partner has disappeared, at least he is not to be found. There are no signs of violence on the body. An inquest is to be held this afternoon.

Boorish Ministers.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—The Dominion ministers are being severely criticized for not attending the opening ceremonies of the Chicago World's Fair, although invited as a government and individually by the United States Government. The invitations were received some time ago, and the reason given by the ministers for not attending is pressure of business. This appears strange in face of the fact that they find time to go to Europe and elsewhere.

Extra Pay for Extra Work.

MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—The Allan line royal mail steamship Mongolian sailed for Liverpool this morning with passengers and freight. She also had a shipment of 481 head of wild Northwest cattle. Neglecting the Worthy.

MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—Nobody has noticed our aldermen in Chicago. They sleep where they can and get food where they can, and in general they have failed to set Lake Michigan on fire. In the city hall there is chagrin, tempered with the sly thrusting of the tongue in the cheek, in token that, if you only consider it, the situation is full of humor.

A Big Cargo.

After due consultation it was decided to refer the whole question of Canadian copyright to a commission composed of leading officials of the foreign, colonial and board of trade departments for assistance, and report for the information of Her Majesty's Government. The dispatch transmits a copy of the report of these officers, which contains a historical narrative on the subject, and makes suggestions and amendments to the Canadian Copyright Act of 1889, which are deemed important by the commission. The suggestions are of a confidential character, and seem to indicate a possible solution of the difficulty between Britain and Canada on the subject of copyright.

Quietly Observed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—There is no united celebration of the nation's holiday in San Francisco to-day, but the occasion is being observed in a fitting manner by the school children, various societies and at the churches. Business is partly suspended and people have given themselves to the proper observance of the day. At all the public schools appropriate and patriotic exercises were held this morning the raising of the American flag being a leading feature, and this was under the auspices of the G.A.R. Special exercises in commemoration of the day were also held in the parochial schools. The German societies of the city paraded this morning through the principal streets to Woodward's gardens, where festivities will be held. Several allegorical floats were in the procession. For Political Offenses.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—John Raymond returned to-day to the city from Portland prison, where he saw the Irish political prisoners. John Daly and James Egan. Since a year ago he says Daly seems to have aged ten years. Egan was imprisoned on the ground that he was Daly's accomplice in the dynamite plot. IS YOUR HOME AN EDEN WITH BABY?

Baby can be made a joy in the home, if the mother thoroughly understands how to care for it. Some mothers make baby a nuisance, owing to ignorance regarding its care and management.

Mothers who do not know how to feed their babies in a sensible and proper manner, incur terrible risks and responsibilities. Infants of careless and ignorant mothers, soon become cross, peevish and sickly. Although fed with plenty of food, they are starved—starved because the food is unwholesome and unfitted for weak digestion.

Wise mothers use Lactated Food for their little ones, and the results are always pleasing and satisfactory. Regularity in feeding, and in quantity of food given, produce health and strength; such babies become hearty and happy; they sleep well, and are free from all the troubles of ordinary babyhood. Babies who are fed on Lactated Food are treasures in the home; mothers are happy, and are relieved from scores of cares and worries, and home is and Eden.

Mother, is your home happy and peaceful with baby? If not, try Lactated Food at once, and all will be well in the future.

The amount secured by the family fraudulently is in the hundreds of thousands. The Beauvalt family are the most enterprising gang of matrimonial swindlers on the continent. More than 4000 persons who had been plucked by them complained to the Paris police, and 12,000 or 15,000 more are believed to have swallowed their chagrin and losses without protest. The method of M. Beauvalt was to advertise in popular newspapers that "a young orphan, possessing 50,000 francs, would marry a serious gentleman; apply H. C. Poste, Ressente, Lyons." The locality, of course, was frequently changed. Beauvalt then arranged to have the letters forwarded to him under various names at different addresses; he applied to his dupes asking for 30 francs for registration, and when this sum was received he sent the photograph of a beautiful girl. This girl, who acted as the bait, was generally Beauvalt's own daughter, but the part was often unwillingly played by some other girl, generally engaged by him as a lady's companion for his wife, or in some such similar capacity. It cost 30 francs more to have an interview with the girl supposed to be in search of a husband, their meeting generally taking place in a railway station or museum. It was generally brief, and the matrimonially inclined bachelor never saw his lady love again, nor could ever find any trace of her, the Beauvalt family always suddenly moving to pastures new when things were likely to become awkward. The son of Beauvalt acted independently of his father and mother. He had invented the "natural child trick," which was to promise by advertisement two hundred francs a month for the board of a natural child and five thousand francs when the child reached majority. All information was to be sent in exchange for ten francs. In the course of time people who sent ten francs never heard any more about the "natural child." The number of dupes made by this young man may be judged from the fact that when the police arrested him 300 letters, half of which contained ten francs, were awaiting him at the post-office. Mdme. Beauvalt, who is only 18 years old, was left at liberty so that she might look after her brothers and sisters, three very young children.

The Russian Version.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 21.—The Official Messenger publishes the first authoritative version of the Russian capture of sealing vessels in the Pacific ocean. The paper declares that six vessels were seized at points distant 18 to 20 miles from the Russian coast, not from 30 to 40 miles as has been asserted. The captures were nearly all made outside the territorial water boundary. This is explained by the fact that the sealers, seeing the Russian cruisers approaching, fled, and the cruisers chased them, sometimes for an hour and a half. The vessels, whose logs, charts, etc., proved that they had been sealing in Russian waters, were seized. Three of the vessels captured were warned. The British flag was not insulted; it was only hauled down and replaced by the Russian colors, after the vessels had been seized. The crews of the captured vessels were well treated. The Official Messenger said that the poor catch of seals on Copper Island is due to the fact that the rookeries have been destroyed by sealers, especially the English.

No Sympathy for Betters.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 22.—Duncan B. Harrison, the actor, was defeated to-day in a suit brought by him to recover several hundred dollars from Brails Moffat of Winona, with whom he bet that Corbett would win the recent fight. Moffat refused to pay and the court sustained him.

BRITISH COLUMBIA COAL.

How the Output Has Grown During the Last Thirty Years.

The development of the coal industry in British Columbia in the past thirty years, as shown by the appended table, has been very remarkable. The large increase in the output of 1891 over 1890 —340,957 tons—(more than the total output for any year up to 1886) would indicate that the annual increase henceforth will be on a vast scale. The improved appliances, electrical and others, lately placed in the mines are bound to produce wonderful results in the output of the provincial mines. The discovery of a fine coal field at Kamloops this year must also make a great difference upon future annual totals.

THE OKANAGAN COUNTRY.

News Notes From Vernon and the Region Round About.

From the Vernon News.]

A move is about to be made soon re the appointment of a J. P. for White Valley, Okanagan. The name of the appointee is still a query.

Coyotes are rampant and their weird, shrill yells re-echo through White Valley o'nights. Mr. Quin Falkner shot one near his barn the other night.

The sounds of saw and hammer resound, and gradually the primitive forest is being transformed into the nucleus of the new town of Lumby. White Valley, admirably situated at the converging points of several roads reaching out in different directions to the many adjacent settlements

During the past week Mr. James A. Anderson, the Government statistician for the Department of Agriculture, has been doing the region round about Vernon, and has now gone down the lake to investigate the state of agriculture at the Mission, Trout Creek and settlements of the Lower country.

Reports are constantly coming from the lower country of wanton slaughter of game. The latest case, and one which has aroused a great amount of indignation among the settlers of the lower Okanagan and sportsmen through the district generally, is that of a couple of individuals, one from Vancouver and the other from Nicola, who are certainly not sportsmen. These two individuals, guided by a rancher from near Princeton, went into the Ashnola valley where there was a fine flock of mountain sheep that the settlers have been taking care of. They killed seven ewes out of the flock and left the carcasses lying on the hills to rot. A more unsportsmanlike action would be difficult to conceive and the indignation is so strong against perpetrators of this idiotic piece of wantonly brutal butchery, that if evidence sufficient to convict them can be obtained they will be punished for it severely. If our game is to be preserved vigorous action must be taken to protect animals from ghouls of this kind, who may imagine that they are sportsmen, but whose conduct shows them to be utterly devoid of the qualities which are supposed to actuate sportsmen.

How to Treat Moths in Carpets.

If ingrain, lay cloths wrung out of hot water along the edges, drying them with a hot iron. If the carpet is heavier than ingrain, lift the edges little by little, steaming it on the wrong as well as the right side, then wash the floor with hot cayenne tea, and replace the carpet when dry. This steaming process destroys the eggs and the young moths.

How to Wash White Silk Handkerchiefs.

Put them through a suds of warm water and white castile soap, rinsing thoroughly. They can be bleached on the grass the same as linen.

How to Prepare a Good Shampoo.

A mixture of white castile soap, bay rum, lukewarm water and salts of tartar will be effective. The salts remove dandruff, and the bay rum will prevent taking cold.

How to Clean Black Ribbon.

If very dirty dip it in hot water and draw it through the fingers a few times, not rubbing it. Have ready a cleanser made by boiling an old black kid glove in a pint of water a short time and letting it cool sufficiently to handle. Use the glove to rub the ribbon thoroughly. Then lay it under a paper and iron it.

How to Make Polishing Wax for Floors.

Melt over a slow fire a pound of yellow wax, and stir in a quarter of a pound of oil of turpentine and the same or rosin. Keep over the fire and stir constantly until all are fused, then set off the fire, still stirring the mixture until it is cool. Apply it to the floor with a woolen rag, rubbing it in hard.

Startling Facts For Our People.

TERRIBLE WARNING AND GREAT HOPE.

A Flood of Light for Those in Darkness and Misery.

If it were possible to collect reliable statistics regarding sickness, suffering and disease in Canada, our newspaper readers would be astonished beyond measure.

No epidemic known to our people has ever worked such desolation and misery in our country as the common ailments of our times are now working.

Nervousness, sleeplessness, general debility, dyspepsia, neuralgia and rheumatism, have laid a heavy hand on our men and women; even the young have felt the terrible agonies of these dreaded and treacherous troubles. Thousands in our Dominion are bound with the chains and fetters of suffering; and thousands of once happy homes have been robbed of sunshine and joy.

Sorrow, darkness and pain, have entered our Canadian homes, cutting down the rich and poor alike. The object of this article is to spread hope, fresh inspiration and courage.

Our great aim is to dispel gloom, sadness and agony of mind, by pointing the prisoners of disease to that rescuer and deliverer, which has already removed heavy and deadly burdens from millions of suffering mortals on this North American continent.

To accomplish this object in a convincing way, it will be necessary to furnish our people with facts and truths which the skeptics of our day cannot disprove or mock at.

To-day it is our privilege to publish the testimony of a well known Canadian gentleman, one held in high esteem by his friends and countrymen —a citizen of honor, truth and uprightness.

Mr. Isaac W. Stockwell, postmaster of Danville, P. Q., was for twenty years a victim of nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and general debility. His condition at times was alarming; and the amount of suffering endured during those long years, can never be fully estimated. A score of years in the toils of agony and suffering, and no cure from physicians or other sources, was sufficient to bring on despair and crush every struggling hope. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Stockwell failed so often in his endeavors to find a cure, he never lost courage.

At last a good angel of mercy passed by, and whispered, "son, be of good cheer, thy prayers for new life and health are answered, take thou of this God-given remedy and be restored." The precious medicine recommended to Mr. Stockwell was Paine's Celery Compound; it was well and faithfully used, and accomplished a mighty work.

It only remains for us to give the public of Canada Mr. Stockwell's letter of testimony in favor of nature's wondrous preparation.

It reads as follows:

Wells & Richardson Co.

GENTLEMEN:—Twenty years ago I overheated myself in the hayfield, which brought on nervousness. I consequently became restless and weak, and suffered from loss of appetite, low condition of blood, and general debility.

I could not go out in winter, as the cold affected me so much on account of my low condition. I consulted many physicians, but received no preceptible benefit.

Two years ago I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound. I have used twelve bottles and the result is the nervousness has left me; I sleep and eat well; the blood courses through my veins as when I was young; I can now stand the winter's cold; and, in a word, I am a new man.

I would specially recommend Paine's Celery Compound to those who are sugering from insomnia and nervousness; they will find it a wonderful restorative.

Respectfully yours,
ISAAC W. STOCKWELL,
Postmaster, Danville, P. Q.

Are you satisfied with the strong proof and testimony contained in this cheering letter, poor sufferer? Are you thoroughly convinced of the great efficacy of the remedy that wrought such a magnificent cure in Mr. Stockwell's case? If you honestly think Paine's Celery Compound can meet your troubles with success, banish at once all doubts, stubborness, and false pride, and take hold of the life giver. Inaction on your part may mean injury to your friends and family, and loss of your own life.

Trust no longer in medicines that have deceived you and which have prolonged your sufferings. Cast them out forever, and wisely follow Mr. Stockwell's example; then will new life, strength, vigor, happiness and pleasure be your reward.

How to Swim Under Water.

Before diving fill your lungs with air just as full as possible; then drive every bit of air out of them. Do this five or six times, and as you plunge into the water do so with your lungs filled chock up with a good supply of air. The more you have the longer you can stay under water.

How to Restore Elasticity to Cane in a Chair.

Turn the chair upside down and wash the cane seat thoroughly with hot water applied with a sponge and worked in until the cane is saturated. Use soap if any cleaning is needed. Then let the drying process go on in the outside air. The cane will shrink a little and be light and new looking afterward.

How to Cure Insomnia.

If your system can stand the shock take a cold sponge or shower bath every morning before breakfast. Rub hard afterward. Drink a glass of milk and water or vichy before going to bed.

How to Remove Wax Stains.

To remove wax stains from cloth apply liberal doses of turpentine.

A handsome complexion is one of the greatest charms a woman can possess Pozzoni's Complexion Powder gives it.

A BY-LAW

TO ENABLE the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes therein set forth.

Whereas it is necessary that the streets and sidewalks should be maintained and bridges improved and constructed, and whereas an insufficient sum of the present year's unexpended revenue is at this time available for such work, it is therefore deemed expedient to raise a sum of money for the above purposes.

And whereas for the purposes aforesaid it is intended to raise by way of loan upon the credit of the city the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

And whereas it will require the sum of $1,289.06 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the debt and interest as hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole ratable property of the said Corporation of the City of Victoria according to the revised assessment roll, for the year 1891, was $17,563,148.

And whereas it will require an annual special rate of 3-40th of a mill in the dollar for the payment of the interest and the creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said interest debt, according to the Municipal Act, 1892.

And whereas it is intended to reduce the general rate so that the said Special rate shall not increase the total rate of taxation.

Be it therefore enacted by the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

SECTION 1.—It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow upon the credit of the said Corporation, by way of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same as a loan, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $25,000.00 currency, or sterling money at the rate of $4.86 2-3rds dollars to the one pound sterling, and to cause all such sums so raised or received to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

SECTION 2.—It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of $25,000.00 either in currency or sterling money (at the rate of $1.86 2-3 dollars to the one pound sterling) as may be required, each of the said debentures being of the amount of $1,000 or its sterling equivalent at the rate aforesaid, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation and signed by the Mayor thereof.

SEC. (3).—The said debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the date hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Corporation in the City Hall, Victoria, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, and the signature of the Mayor or of the Clerk of the Corporation respectively to the coupons may be affixed by printed, stamped or lithographed fac simile.

SECTION 4.—The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the said Treasurer.

Sec. (5). For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest to become due thereon, an equal special rate of 3-40ths of a mill in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the City of Victoria during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

SECTION 6.—This By-law shall before the final passage thereof receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided for by the Municipal Act, 1892, and shall take effect on the 14th day of October, 1892.

SECTION 7.—This By-law may be cited as the "Street Loan By-Law, 1892."

Passed the Municipal Council this 28th day of September, 1892.

Received the assent of and confirmed by the Municipal Electors on the 11th day of October, 1892.

Reconsidered, adopted and finally passed the Municipal Council on the 12th day of October, A.D. 1892.

ITS UNFULFILLED DUTIES.

Ald. Hunter fully believes that the Dominion Government should build a revetment wall to prevent the sea from encroaching on the Dallas road. He is just as strongly of the opinion that the Government will not do its duty in this regard. It was very interesting to hear him declare at last night's meeting of the Council that if the Government built such a wall it would prove itself "more generous and more just than he gave it credit for." The vigor with which the Victoria friends of the Ottawa Government express their disappointment over its laches is exceedingly refreshing, but through some curious mental process it always evaporates by the time when a vote is to be cast. Gentlemen like Mr. Hunter seem to forget that one vote at election time would be more effective than a column or two of objurgation. This city has been badly treated by the Government, but so long as it sends slavish supporters of the Government to Ottawa the ministers do not attach much weight to the verbal pyrotechnics in which our disgruntled citizens indulge from time to time. We are, in fact, but reaping the reward which the servility of our representatives has earned. It would appear as though even that wonderful boon the drill hall, secured for us by Col. Prior, is begrudged at Ottawa, since the Department of Public Works has found it necessary to stop work thereon. The appropriation is exhausted while the work is about half done, and we suppose the building will have to remain in its unfinished state until a fresh vote is obtained from Parliament, or until some way is found of dodging the Auditor-General. Whenever our citizens want a reminder of Ottawa carelessness and incapacity they need only take a look at the unroofed building out on Menzies street. Then when they walk or drive along the Dallas road they may recall the certificate of want of justice and generosity which Ald. Hunter has bestowed on the Government.

A QUESTION IN PROPORTION.

The Colonist has not yet ventured an opinion on the extent of Sir Adolphe Caron's turpitude, though it so glibly found fault with Mr. Laurier because he failed to give Mercier the "cut direct." Perhaps our neighbor is not acquainted with the facts in the Caron case, and we may recite them briefly. It was proved by the documents published in the Globe that during the election campaign of 1887 Sir Adolphe Caron drew from the fund of which Thomas McGreevy was treasurer the sum of $112,000 to be spent in various Quebec electoral districts. It has been proved by the evidence of Mr. Beemer before the Caron Commission that Mr. Beemer contributed $25,000 of this amount, he being at that time contractor for the Lake St. John Railway, a road heavily subsidized by the Dominion Parliament. The meaning of this combination of subsidy and contribution must be plain to a suspicious moralist like the Colonist. If it was so very far wrong for Mr. Laurier to appear in the court room beside Mr. Mercier, how far wrong did Caron go when he took that money from Beemer to be expended for corrupt purposes? And how far wrong are those other members of the Cabinet who remain colleagues of Sir Adolphe? If it is a sin to greet a political sinner in a courtroom, surely it is a yet more grievous sin to sit with him in the Cabinet council. Is the Colonist not afraid that Sir John Thompson and the whole party may get besmirched by contact with the corrupt minister?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Camille Felix Michel Rousset, an eminent French historian, died in Paris on Thursday, and the fact is noted that he is the third member of the French Academy removed by death within a month. The other two were Renan and Mannier. The present year will be remembered as one of very extensive mortality in the ranks of the litterateurs. Probably none other of this generation has witnessed the disappearance of so many men distinguished wielders of the pen.

It seems that the Postoffice Department has at last been prevailed on to make a small improvement in the mail service of the southern Okanagan country. A tri-weekly mail is to be given from Vernon to Osoyoos and a fortnightly from Osoyoos to Kettle River, Boundary Creek and Rock Creek. As the Vernon News says, "this is a great improvement on the former service, but still two weeks is a long time to wait between mails." Perhaps it would not be right to expect the Government to move too far at once.

Commenting on the announcement that boring in the Northumberland straits in connection with the proposed Prince Edward Island tunnel has been suspended, the Hamilton Spectator makes out a strong case against proceeding with the work. The contention of the islanders is that the Dominion has failed to carry out that part of the confederation terms which bound it to provide an uninterrupted steam service between the island and the mainland. The Spectator points out that owing to the blockades of ice in winter the letter of that promise cannot be kept, but that it says is not a good reason why the people of Canada should be called on to construct a tunnel to the island at a cost of something like $20,000,000. Such a work it believes "wholly disproportioned to the value of the traffic between Prince Edward Island and the mainland." This candid talk on the part of a Conservative newspaper is quite pleasantly surprising, but so far as we can see the Spectator may calm its fears, since the tunnel project is not likely to be seriously undertaken by the Government. The object of the Dominion Government in feinting at the work was to gain over votes in the island, and the fact that it succeeded so poorly is good evidence that most of the islanders saw through the dodge.

Black Bass Briefs.

If you are angling for black bass with flies, and wish the flies to sink a little, be careful not to get any mosquito repellant on the leaders. The oil in the insect mixture will make them float like so much cork. This reminds me: It is generally stated that there are two styles of fly fishing for black bass. There are three; the first two—with ordinary black bass flies sunk a few inches under the water, as in salmon fishing, and the general method of using flies of a size between the ordinary black bass fly and the medium sized brook trout fly, which are flailed as in brook trout fishing; the third—with ordinary black bass flies with a No. 2 split shot three inches above the dropper, and the flies sunk almost as deep as bait would be allowed to sink. Of course this is a rather coarse method compared with other styles of fly fishing, but in the water where it is practiced—the Saginaw river at Bay City, Mich.—there is under many conditions really nothing vulgar about it. The water is deep, muddy and badly colored by the pine bark from the innumerable log rafts that go up and down the course. I have seen half a dozen beauties caught with the sunken fly in a half hour's time.—Anglers' Journal.

When Vernet Declined.

After the partition of Poland, Nicholas proposed that Vernet should paint a picture on the subject. "I am afraid I cannot do it, sire," was the answer. "I have never painted a Christ on the cross. The moment I had said it," continued Vernet, when he told me the story, which is scarcely known, "I thought my last hour had struck. I am perfectly certain that a Russian would have paid for these words with his life, or at least with lifelong exile to Siberia. I shall never forget the look he gave me; there was a murderous gleam in the eyes."—An Englishman in Paris.

Missouri was named from a river. The word is from the Indian Min-he-sho-shay, signifying muddy water.

MOUNTAIN ECHOES.

Smashup on the C.P.R.—Beautiful Weather. Plenty of Game.

BEAR CREEK, Oct. 20.—About 8 p.m. yesterday there was a narrow escape from a bad accident. While the work train was here waiting orders the engine stood on the main line and the rest of the train on the side track, just getting orders to proceed west, when a light engine, which had pushed up the passenger, was returning, and ran into the work train, smashing the standing engine up pretty badly. Mr. Armstrong, engineer, and Mr. Crawford, fireman, had the good sense to jump from their engine when they saw the freight engine coming for them, as they would not have had time to start their heavy train back. Mr. Smith, who was on the light engine as engineer, stayed on his engine, which was not damaged much. In five minutes more both trains would have been running towards one another. Fortunately no one was hurt.

At Donald, Mr. Dan McLean, yardmaster, had one of his fingers taken off while coupling cars in the yard.

Mr. Richard Patmore add Miss Katie Behan were married at Donald on the 19th by Rev. Keen.

There is lovely weather in the mountains now.

Mr. Sam Youll shot a fine elk on Bush River a few days ago. Game of all kinds seems to be on the increase now. Sport has been above the average this year.

UNION HAPPENINGS.

The Odd Fellows Have a Great Time—More Government Blundering in Comox.

UNION, B.C., Oct. 22.—Union Lodge, I.O.O.F., held its anniversary supper at the Union hotel on Monday, 17th inst. A very enjoyable evening was spent by those present, and great credit is due the officers of the lodge for their efforts in making visiting brethren and the friends of the members feel perfectly at home. The speeches in response to the toasts were really good, and would compare favorably with those made on similar occasions in large cities. Champagne flowed freely till the small hours, while songs and recitations brought a very pleasant evening to a close. So favorably were visitors impressed that a number intend joining the order.

Mr. Dick, inspector of mines, is up here on business. He reports everything as satisfactory in connection with the mines.

Mrs. Young of this place mourns the loss of her youngest son, who died Wednesday last.

The construction of the telegraph line from Nanaimo to Comox affords an illustration of the penurious way the Dominion Government treats anything pertaining to British Columbia. They accepted the tender of Contractor McLaughlin, and it was so low that it won't pay the men's wages. To try and make something the line has been put up in a hap hazard sort of way. A proper trail has not been cut and now everything is at a stand still with the line about half completed. The tender of a responsible man would have cost but little more, and the work would have been done properly. In the meantime we have to wait till the Dominion Government thinks fit to complete the line.

S. Ban, a Japanese merchant of Portland, Oregon, paid Union a visit this week. He is up here looking after Japanese miners who came here some time ago, but owing to the closing of the mines have received no employment. S. Ban has to keep the Japs and he is anxious for the mines to start up. The company do not give him any encouragement to when the mines will start. The Japs are thorough miners, having worked in Japanese mines for a number of years. S. Ban has crossed the Pacific five times, and says Japanese laborers are giving good satisfaction on the Pacific coast, they being cleaner, politer and more intelligent than Chinese.

Mr. Galloway, of Nanaimo, is the guest of Rev. Mr. Robson.

Mr. John Denton leaves for Wellington by the Joan. He will be missed in the Sunday school of which he was superintendent.

EVEN UNTO THE MEANEST.

Sweet Charity is Not Totally Absent in the Heathen Chinee.

A blind man squatted on the pavement, corner Yates and Government streets. He was grinding out music from a small hand organ. The man looked cold, and shivered. Now and again he would stop short and place his fingers in his mouth to give them warmth. He had little clothing, and what little he had was all in tatters. He looked pitiable, yet did not raise his eyes to the passing throng. His deplorable attempts at harmony were little heeded by the crowd. He was passed by. No clink of coin sounded in his small tin can placed to receive the contributions of the charitable. A Chinaman passed, carrying a basket of clothes. The Celestial turned, retraced his steps and stood looking upon the pitiful object before him. He laid down the basket, put his hand into his pocket, brought out a silver coin, looked round to see that no one observed him, dropped the money in the tin can, again burdened himself with his basket and was gone. The silver piece was half a dollar.

SOOKE IRON ORE.

The Report of a Scotch Analyst Made in 1885, Republished.

Some years ago samples of iron ore from the Sooke district were forwarded to Mr. Wm. Wallace, of the City Analyst's Laboratory, Glasgow, Scotland, and the results of his tests were highly satisfactory. The mountains from which the ore was taken are in full view of the city of Victoria, and are known to contain inexhaustible quantities of these valuable ores. The report of Mr. Wallace, on three samples of magnetic ore, was as follows:

	C.	E.	H.
Peroxide of iron	54.89	65.36	65.00
Protoxide of iron	23.61	18.36	31.50
Oxide of magnesia	.23	.62	Trace
Lime	.47	.33	.42
Magnesia	.52	1.15	.29
Phosphoric acid	.015	.03	Trace
Sulphur	.02	Trace	.08
Iron combined with sulphur	.02	Trace	.07
Alumina	7.90	5.19	.84
Tetanic acid	.60	None	.70
Silica	11.70	8.39	1.40
Water	.10	.10	....
Total	100.075	99.64	100.30
Iron, pure, per cent	56.89	60.03	70.07

Pig iron per ton	12:1:5:13 cwts.	.... cwts.	15:0:20 cwts.
Ore required to make a ton of pig iron	32.5	30.8	26.3

It is a magnificent magnetic iron ore of extraordinary purity and richness, and C and E are of excellent quality, all being capable of making the finest description of pig iron, suitable for making steel by the Bessemer or Siemens-Martin process.

EXCITED CHINESE.

The Daily Bulletin Boards Contain Some Startling Information.

Corner of Government and Cormorant streets, Chinatown, is a bulletin board upon which are placarded notices in Chinese characters. John, the Chinaman, seldom passes this spot without looking at the board and reading the news. The Chinamen have no newspaper in Victoria. Few read English. So the bulletin board becomes their daily paper. Early this morning a Chinaman ran up Cormorant street with several sheets of Chinese characters in his hand. He was excited and nervous. He hastily fastened the sheets to the board and was soon out of sight. The next Chinaman who came along, stopped and looked at the board. He shouted something in Chinese and several Chinamen standing near were soon reading the bills. Then more flocked around and the sidewalk was soon blocked. The Chinamen gesticulated in a frenzied manner and expressed approval of the writing. The writing referred to the lottery raids that have recently been made by the police. Threats, in no mild terms, were used against the principal Chinese witnesses for the crown. They accuse Ah Wing, the interpreter, with wilfully misinterpreting the evidence and state that they have it in for him, and that if he ever returns to China he will know how the "cangue" feels. They affirm that Chas Sing, a witness, is going to a place considerably warmer than Victoria, and Tom Sui, teacher in the Chinese mission, is told that there is something not very pleasant in store for him.

The notices are the talk of Chinatown. The chief of police is called everything that is vile, and according to the notices he will occupy one of the hottest corners of a certain tropical region. Everybody who had anything to do with the prosecution is given a "roasting" in the notices.

The Imprisoned Seamen.

When the case of the 13 seamen of the Bankburn came on before His Lordship Mr. Justice Crease to-day, Mr. Helmcken, who appeared for Captain Davies, raised the objection that the defendant, Rosenblom, had not entered into a recognizance as required by section 90 of the Summary Convictions Act, which provides that before a judge can entertain an application for a writ of certiorari the defendant must enter into a recognizance with one or more sureties in the sum of $100 as a guarantee that he will prosecute the certiorari without delay and as security for costs if the conviction of the lower court is affirmed. Unfortunately the prisoners are penniless, as at the time of their conviction the money then due them was not paid over by the captain. His Lordship adjourned the case till 12 o'clock on Monday, when if the necessary bond is duly executed, the case will be at last decided on its merits.

There were 30 voters present, George received six votes, Joseph 15 and Charley 19.

Vancouver, Westminster and Nanaimo will co-operate.

The Iona's Case.

Inspector Thomson has not yet received any word from Ottawa regarding the Iona's case. He is expecting, however, to be authorised to go on with the prosecution. Nobody in official circles seems to know anything about the Chinamen who were left near Port San Juan by the Iona, but as some reached town the others no doubt are being looked after.

Fast Time.

We were shown to-day by McCallum, the Broad street tailor, an invoice of woollens dated London, England, Oct. 3, express ex Etruria, via New York. Goods arriving at his door on the morning of the 18th and invoice arriving per post about 30 minutes later, thus covering the distance from London to 42 Broad street, Victoria, in the fast time of 15 days 6 hours. Can any of our other importers beat this?

An Active Week.

The week just closed has seen the introduction of the town of Duluth, on Duncan's Bay, on the real estate market, and the backers of the place have every reason to be satisfied. The proposition is worthy of the consideration of every buyer. The place is backed up with stronger natural recommendations than any place in the province, aside from the big cities, and it will, when the Canada Western reaches it, rival some of them. Buyers should not hesitate. It is a fine investment.

Not Seriously Injured.

Wm. J. Liglomm, one of the men engaged in blasting for the Adelphia building sewer, was this afternoon the victim of an accident caused by an explosion. As usual a number of blasts was discharged at noon. The foreman counted them and said they all went off but one of the charges did not all go off, in it was a little powder. Liglomm put a drill in the hole with the intention of deepening it. As soon as the drill struck the powder an explosion occurred. Liglomm's hand was cut in several places and his face slightly scratched, but he was not seriously injured.

Nearly Bled to Death.

Charles Cullin, the well known lacrosse player, was a very sick man last night. Late yesterday afternoon Dr. McKecnie removed one of Mr. Cullin's tonsils, which had increased to an enormous size. After the operation Mr. Cullin ran to catch a street car and by exerting himself caused fresh bleeding. The place from which the tonsil was removed bled very freely for a long time, and when the doctors arrived the patient was in a very weak condition. The bleeding was stopped by Doctors Helmcken and Ernest Hall. Mr. Cullin was better but still very weak this morning. In about one case in 5000 the removal of a tonsil will cause blood to flow so copiously as in this case.

De Levron is Mad.

Word has been received from San Francisco that Commander De Levron, of the cruiser Zabiaka, has gone insane and been discharged from the Russian navy. He is now on his way to San Francisco, where he owns a great deal of property. De Levron was the man who seized the sealing schooners off the Siberian coast. The sealers think it probable that the Russian Government has discharged De Levron and circulated the report that he is mad to get out of the difficulty likely to arise through the seizure of the schooners. But this is hardly possible, as the Government would have to brand all their officials on the Siberian coast as being crazy, as they also had a hand in the confiscation of the schooners. The report that Captain Lorentzen was insane was not true.

THE TODHUNTER MYSTERY.

Why Were the Beagans Allowed to Get Away From Westminster?

"Birdie" Kazar, an inmate of a Broughton street house, was arrested last night. The Kazar woman is wanted to give evidence at Westminster in the May Hunter murder case. Kazar slept in the house the night of the murder. "Bertie" Demming, alias Nellie Smith, the other inmate, has also been procured. Those who know the ins and outs of the case regard it as very singular that the Beagans were not arrested before. It is stated upon good authority that Chief of Police Houston, of Westminster, was months ago told of the whereabouts of the Beagans, and also of their undoubted connection with the case. But the chief did not deem it expedient to pay any attention to the matter. One of the Westminster police, Sergt. Carty, it is said, laid full particulars of the Beagans' complicity in the case before Chief Houston and begged permission to follow them up. He was refused. Those singular facts will be fully brought out at the trial, to come on at Westminster shortly.

A Sad Affair.

Since August last Mrs. Smith, wife of W. A. Smith, Waddell street, has been enjoying very poor health, culminating in somewhat deranging the lady's mind. For the past few days her symptoms alarmed her husband and caused him to be on the alert. Friday night they retired as usual. Mr. Smith was very tired and soon fell into a deep slumber, from which he did not wake until 4 o'clock next morning. It was then he discovered that his wife had left the bed. He quickly arose and searched the premises, but without avail. The hired man says he heard some person go down stairs about 12 o'clock, and at about that time Mrs. Jas. Smith, who resides on Walker street, heard a woman passing by her house talking to herself. This caused the neighborhood to be searched, but no tidings could be found of the unfortunate woman. Finally the searching parties repaired to the river, near the Salmon River bridge, and began to drag the river, fearing she had committed suicide, and it only took a few minutes to prove that their supposition was well founded. They had only been at work a short time when Mr. S. M. Bentley's grappling hook brought the dead body of Mrs. Smith to the surface. Indications are that deliberately jumped over the bridge at the point where the water is very deep. An inquest was held by Coroner Bent, M. D., the jury returning a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Smith came to her death by drowning in the Salmon River while laboring under mental depression brought on by severe illness. She was sister to Mrs. M. G. Murray, of this town, and a native of West River, Pictou.—Truro, N.S., Sun.

Victor Hugo and Spiritualism.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The contents of a remarkable manuscript left by Victor Hugo have been made public. The manuscript is dated Feb. 28, 1851, and describes his experience at a spiritualistic seance. The comments upon the seance indicate that he believed in spiritualism. He says that he refrained from using verses in order to preserve his work to his personal impress.

SOCIETY NOTES.

What is Being Done in the Several Societies of the City and Suburbs.

The regular meeting of Fernwood Lodge, C.O.O.F. (M.U.), was held last evening. Routine business having been disposed, a new member was initiated.

A new lodge, A.O.U.W., is to be organized at Wellington in about two weeks. A large number of citizens of the little mining town have promised to join the new lodge.

Colfax Rebekah Degree Lodge meets next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Several applications will be considered and other important business transacted, also practice in the Beautified Work.

Acme Lodge last evening appointed a committee to arrange for an anniversary entertainment to take place on the 14th of next month, on which date they will complete the first year of their existence as a lodge.

The executive council of the Ancient Order of Foresters has been authorized to deal with the question of transferring the lodges of this province to the jurisdiction of the Subsidiary High Court of Canada. The various courts of the order report a number of applications for membership.

Five new members took degrees at the last meeting of Dominion Lodge, I.O.O.F. There has been a small boom among all the city lodges during the last few weeks, and a large number of new members have been initiated. Canton Victoria, Patriarchs Militant, has also increased its membership lately.

Columbia Lodge No. 2, I.O.O.F., at last meeting conferred the initiatory degree and also the first degree, using their new paraphernalia according to the Sovereign Grand Lodge work. The performance of the degree team was favorably commented on by all present. Several applications were received so that it is likely there will be a good deal of degree work done by this lodge.

The social held a week ago by Sullivan lodge, A.O.U.W., has already had good effects. At the social officers of the order pointed out the benefits to be derived by membership in the order, and many have already taken the advice. Five or six applications are in for admittance to Sullivan lodge, and the other lodges report equal progress. There is some talk of starting the beautifying work, which would cause a great deal of enthusiasm in the order.

Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 1610, celebrated its first anniversary last evening at St. George's Hall, where a pleasant social was held. District Master for Vancouver Island, Bro. Jno. Braden presided and complimented the new lodge on progress made during the year. An interesting programme was rendered by the following ladies and gentlemen:—Mr. Gonason, song; Mr. Jones, resitation; Mr. and Mrs. Brown, piano and violin duet; Mr. Davidson, Highland fling and sword dance; Mr. Braden, song; Corporal Hamilton, club swinging; Miss Braden, piano solo; Mr. Rathbourne, reading; Mr. Gough, song; Mr. Slack, recitation; Sergt. Proctor, cornet solo, and Mr. Wills, comic song. The flute band under the leadership of Mr. Gough, was also present.

A COLUMBUS MEMORIAL SERMON.

Dr. Talmage Draws Many Practical Lessons From the Discovery of America.

It Had Many Remarkable Features, But It Was Undoubtedly a Religious Discovery.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 9.—Rev. Dr. Talmage's discourse today was occasioned by the Columbus observance now taking place. In the overflowing audience were many who had come to the city to participate in the patriotic ceremonies. The subject was, "Half a Planet," the text being Deuteronomy iii, 27, "Lift up thine eyes westward."

So God said to Moses in Bible times, and so he said to Christoforo Colombo, the son of a wool comber of Genoa, more than four hundred years ago. The nations had been looking chiefly toward the east. The sculpture of the world, the architecture of the world, the laws of the world, the philosophy of the world, the civilization of the world, the religion of the world came from the east.

But while Columbus, as his name was called after it was Latinized, stood studying maps and examining globes and reading cosmography, God said to him, "Lift up thine eyes toward the west." The fact was it must have seemed to Columbus a very lopsided world—like a cart with one wheel, like a scissors with one blade, like a sack on one side of a camel, needing a sack on the other side to balance it. Here was a bride of a world with no bridegroom. When God makes a half of anything he does not stop there. He makes the other half. We are all obliged sometimes to leave things only half done. But God never stops half way, because he has the time and the power to go all the way.

I do not wonder that Columbus was not satisfied with half a world, and so went to work to find the other half. The pieces of carved wood that were floated to the shores of Europe by a westerly gale, and two dead human faces, unlike anything he had seen before, likewise floated from the west, were to him the voice of God saying, "Lift up thine eyes toward the west." But the world then, as now, had plenty of Can't-be-dones. That is what keeps individuals back, and enterprises back, and the church back, and nations back—ignominious and disgusting and disheartening Can't-be-dones.

THE CANT'T-BE-DONES.

Old navigators said to young Columbus, "It can't be done." The republic of Genoa said, "It can't be done." Alphonso V said, "It can't be done." A committee on maritime affairs, to whom the subject was submitted, declared, "It can't be done." Venetians said, "It can't be done." But the father of Columbus' wife died, leaving his widow a large number of sea charts and maps, and as if to condemn the slur that different ages put upon mothers-in-law, the mother-in-law of Columbus gave him the navigator's materials out of which he ciphered America. After awhile the story of this poor but ambitious Columbus reaches the ear of Queen Isabella, and she pays eighty dollars to buy him a decent suit of clothes, so that he may be fit to appear before royalty.

The interview in the palace was successful. Money enough was borrowed to fit out the expedition. There they are, the three ships, in the Gulf of Cadiz, Spain. If you ask me which have been the most famous boats of the world, I would say, first, Noah's ship, that wharfed on Mount Ararat; second, the boat of bulrushes, in which Moses floated the Nile; third, the Mayflower, that put out from Plymouth with the Pilgrim Fathers, and now these three vessels that on this the Friday morning, Aug. 3, 1492, are rocking on the ripples.

I am so glad it is Friday, so that the prows of those three ships shall first of all run down the superstition that things begun or voyage started on Friday must necessarily prove disastrous. Show me any Monday or Tuesday or Wednesday or Thursday or Saturday that ever accomplished as much as this expedition that started on Friday. With the idea that there will be perils connected with the expedition the sacrament of the Lord's supper is administered. Do not forget that this voyage has begun under religious auspices.

There is the Santa Maria, only ninety feet long, with four masts and eight anchors. The captain walking the deck is fifty-seven years old, his hair white, for at thirty-five he was gray, and his face is round, his nose aquiline and his stature a little taller than the average. I know from his decided step and the set of his jaw that he is a determined man. That is Captain Christopher Columbus. Near by, but far enough off not to run into each other, are the smaller ships, the Pinta and the Nina, about large enough and safe enough to cross the Hudson river or the Thames in good weather.

There are two doctors in this fleet of ships and a few landsmen, adventurers who are ready to risk their necks in a wild expedition. There are enough provisions for a year. "Captain Columbus, where are you sailing for?" "I do not know." "How long before you will get there?" "I cannot say." "All ashore that are going!" is heard, and those who wish to remain go to the land.

THE MAN OF DETERMINATION.

Now the anchors of the three ships are being weighed, and the ratlines begin to rattle and the sails to unfurl. The wind is dead east, and it does not take long to get out to sea. In a few hours the adventurers wish they had not started. The ships begin to roll and pitch. Oh, it is such a delightful sensation for landsmen! They begin to bother Captain Columbus with questions. They want to know what he thinks of the weather. They want to know when he thinks he will probably get there. Every time when he stands taking observations of the sun with an astrolabe they wonder what he sees and ask more questions. The crew are rather grouty. Some of them came on under four months' advance pay and others were impressed into the service.

For sixteen days the wind is dead east, and that pleases the captain because it blows them farther and farther away from the European coast and farther on toward the shore of another country, if there is any. After awhile there comes a calm day, and the attempt is made to fathom the ocean, and they cannot touch bottom though the line and lead run down two hundred fathoms. More delightful sensations for those who are not good sailors! A fathom is six feet, and two hundred fathoms one thousand two hundred feet, and below that it may be many hundred feet deeper.

To add interest to the voyage on the twentieth day out a violent storm sweeps the sea, and the Atlantic ocean tries what it can do with the Santa Maria, the Pinta and the Nina. Some of you know something of what a sea can do with the Umbria, the Majestic, the Teutonic and the City of Paris, and you must imagine what the ocean could do with those three small ships of olden time. You may judge what the ocean was then by what it is now; it has never changed its habits. It can smile like the morning, but often it is the archangel of wrath, and its most rollicking fun is a shipwreck. The mutinous crew would have killed Columbus had it not been for the general opinion on shipboard that he was the only one that could take them back home in safety.

The promise of a silk waistcoat and forty dollars in money to the man who should first discover land appeased them somewhat, but the indignation and blasphemy and threats of assassination must have been awful. Yet God sustained the great sailor commanding the Santa Maria. Every evening on shipboard they had prayers and sung a vesper hymn. But after all the patience of those on board the ships had been exhausted, and the great captain or admiral had been cursed by every anathema that human lips could frame, one night a sailor saw a light moving along the shore, and then moving up and down, and then disappearing.

On Friday morning at two o'clock, just long enough after Thursday to make it sure that it was Friday, and so give another blow at the world's ideas of unlucky days—on Friday morning, Oct. 12, 1492, a gun from the Pinta signaled "land ahead." Then the ships lay to and the boats were lowered, and Captain Christopher Columbus first stepped upon the shore amid the song of birds and the air a surge of redolence and took possession in the name of the Father, and the Son and the Holy Ghost.

THE GLORIOUS CONSUMMATION.

So the voyage that began with the sacrament ended with "Gloria in Excelsis Deo." From that day onward you say there can be nothing for Columbus but honors, rewards, rhapsodies, palaces and world wide applause. No! no! On his way back to Spain the ship was so wrenched by the tempest and so threatened with destruction that he wrote a brief account of his discovery and put it in a cask and threw it overboard that the world might not lose the advantage of his adventures. Honors awaited him on the beach, but he undertook a second voyage, and with it came all maligning and persecution and denunciation and poverty.

He was called a land grabber, a liar, a cheat, a fraud, a deceiver of nations. Speculators robbed him of his good name, courtiers depreciated his discoveries, and there came to him ruined health and imprisonment and chains, of which he said while he rattled them on his wrists, "I will wear them as a memento of the gratitude of princes." Amid keen appreciation of the world's abuse and cruelty, and with body writhing in the tortures of gout, he groaned out his last words, "In manus tuas Domine commendo spiritum meum"—"Into thy hands, O Lord, I commend my spirit."

Of course he had regal obsequies. That is the way the world tries to atone for its mean treatment of great benefactors. Many a man has had a fine ride to his grave who during this life had to walk all the way. A big funeral, and instead of bread they give him a stone—that is a tombstone. But death, that brings quiet to the body of others, did not bring quiet to his. First buried in the church of Santa Maria. Seven years afterward removed to Seville. Twenty-three years afterward removed to San Domingo. Finally removed to Cuba. Four postmortem journeys from sepulcher to sepulcher. I wish his bones might be moved just once more, and now that they have come so near to America as Cuba they might during the great Columbian year be transported to our own shores, where they belong, and that in the fifth century after his decease the American continent might build a mausoleum worthy of him who picked this jewel of a hemisphere out of the sea and set it in the crown of the world's geography.

But the bright noonday sun of that old sailor's prosperity went down in thickest night, and though here and there a monument has been lifted in his memory, and here and there a city called after him, the continent that he was the means of founding was named after another name, and no fitting commemoration of his work has been proposed until nearly four hundred years after his body turned to dust. May the imposing demonstration now being made in his honor on the Atlantic coast and to be made next year in his honor midcontinent be brilliant enough and far resounding enough and Christian enough and magnificent enough to atone for the neglect of centuries! May the good Lord allow that most illustrious sailor of all time to look over the amethystine battlements long enough to see some of the garlands wreathed around his name and hear something of the hemispheric shout that shall greet his memory!

AMERICA DISCOVERED IN THE NAME OF GOD.

What most impresses me in all that wondrous life, which for the next twelve months we will be commemorating by sermon and song and military parade and World's fair and congress of nations, is something I have never heard stated, and that is that the discovery of America was a religious discovery and in the name of God. Columbus, by the study of the prophecies, and by what Zechariah and Micah and David and Isaiah had said about the "ends of the earth," was persuaded to go out and find the "ends of the earth," and he felt himself called by God to carry Christianity to the "ends of the earth." Then the administration of the last supper before they left the Gulf of Cadiz, and the evening prayers during the voyage, and the devout ascription as soon as they saw the New World, and the doxologies with which they landed confirm me in saying that the discovery of America was a religious discovery.

Atheism has no right here; infidelity has no right here; vagabondism has no right here. And as God is not apt to fail in any of his undertakings (at any rate I have never heard of his having anything to do with a failure), America is going to be Gospelized, and from the Golden Gate of California to the Narrows of New York harbor, and from the top of North America to the foot of South America, from Behring straits to Cape Horn, this is going to be Immanuel's land. All the forms of irreligion and abomination that have cursed other parts of the world will land here—yea, they have already landed—and they will wrangle for the possession of this hemisphere, and they will make great headway and feel themselves almost established.

But God will not forget the prophecies which encouraged Columbus about the "ends of the earth seeing the salvation of God," nor the Christian anthem which Columbus led on the morning of the 12th of October, 1492, on the coast of San Salvador. Like that flock of land birds which met the Santa Maria and the Pinta and the Nina far out at sea, indicating to the commanders of that fleet that they were approaching some country, so a whole flock of promises and hopes, golden winged and songful, this morning alight around us, assuring us that we are approaching the glorious period of American evangelization.

A divine influence will yet sweep the continent that will make iniquity drop like slacked lime, and make the most blatant infidelity declare it was only joking when it said the Bible was not true, and the worst atheism announce that it always did believe in the God of nations. Let others call for requiem and dead march. I call for George Frederick Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." There has been much talk of late about communication with other worlds. Mars has come so near we can see its canals, and it has been hoped that by signals after awhile we may communicate with other stars. Ah, that will not be possible until our world has been reformed and evangelized.

It would not do for our world in its lost and ruined state to have communication with other worlds. It would spoil their morals. But wait until this world is fully redeemed, as it will be, and then perhaps interstellar correspondence may be opened. Till then this smitten and sickened world of ours must be quarantined from coming too near the unfallen worlds. But, thank God, the prophecies which cheered Columbus in his great undertaking cheer us. America for God! Yea, the round world for God! There can be no doubt about it!

HE KNEW NOT ALL HE DID.

The great Italian navigator also impresses me with the idea that when one does a good thing he cannot appreciate its ramifications. To the moment of his death Columbus never knew that he had discovered America, but thought that Cuba was a part of Asia. He thought the island Hispaniola was the Ophir of Solomon. He thought he had only opened a new way to old Asia. Had he known what North and South America were and are, and that he had found a country three thousand miles wide, ten thousand miles long, of seventeen million square miles and four times as large as Europe, the happiness would have been too much for mortal man to endure.

He had no idea that the time would come when a nation of sixty million people on this side of the sea would be joined by all the intelligent nations on the other side the sea for the most part of a year reciting his wonderful deeds. It took centuries to reveal the result of that one transatlantic voyage. So it has always been. Could Paul on that June day when he was decapitated have had any idea of what effect his letters and the account of his life would have on Christendom? Could Martin Luther have had any idea of the echoes that would ring through the ages from the bang of his hammer nailing the Latin theses against a church door at Wittenberg?

Could Eli Whitney have realized the continents of wealth that would be added to the south by the invention of his cotton gin? Could John Gutenberg, toiling year after year making type and laboriously setting them side by side, and with presses changed now this way and now that, and sued by John Faust for money loaned, and many of the people trying to cheat Gutenberg out of his invention, he toiling on until he produced what is known as the Mazarin Bible, have any idea that, as a result of his invention, there would be libraries that placed side by side would again and again engirdle the earth, or the showers of newspapers that snow the world under?

When Manhattan island was sold to the Dutch for twenty-four dollars neither they who sold or bought could have foreseen New York, the commercial metropolis of America, that now stands on it. Can a man who preaches a sermon, or a woman who distributes tracts, or a teacher who instructs a class, or a passerby who utters encouraging words realize the infinitudes of useful result? The teacher at Harrow school who toiled with William Jones, the most stupid boy in school and at the foot of his class, did not know that he was fitting for his work the greatest oriental scholar of modern times, his statue now in St. Paul's cathedral, London.

Every move you make for God, however insignificant in your own eyes or in the eyes of others, touches worlds larger than the one Columbus discovered. Why talk about unimportant things? There are no unimportant things. Infinity is made up of infinitesmals. On a clear night the smallest dewdrop holds a star. Each one of you is at the center of a universe, and all you say and do somehow vibrates to the extreme of that universe in all directions. I promise everlasting renown to those who will go forth with Christian and sympathetic words.

After the battle of Copenhagen, Nelson, the admiral, went into a hospital and halted at the bed of a wounded sailor who had lost his arm and said, "Well, Jack, what is the matter with you?" and the sailor replied, "Lost my right arm, your honor," and Nelson looked down at his own empty sleeve and said: "Well, Jack, then you and I are both spoiled for fishermen. Cheer up, my brave fellow!" and that sympathetic word cheered the entire hospital. Before you die you can, out of your own misfortunes, cheer a hundred souls and start unending echoes. You can no more appreciate the farreaching results of your life than Columbus could see this continent from arctic to antartic. I say this not to make you proud and arrogant, but to make you tremble with your responsibilities and put you on your guard as to what you do and what you say.

THE REWARD OF DILIGENCE.

While studying the life of this Italian navigator, I am also reminded of the fact that while we are diligently looking for one thing we find another. Columbus started to find India, but found America. Go on and do your duty diligently and prayerfully, and if you do not find what you looked for you will find something better. Saul was hunting for the strayed animals of his father's barnyard, but met Samuel, the prophet, who gave him a crown of dominion. Nearly all the great inventions and discoveries were made by men who at the time were looking for something else. Professor Morse, gone to Europe to perfect himself in chemistry, on returning happens to take the packet ship Sully from Havre, and while in conversation with a passenger learns of some experiments in France which suggest to him the magnetic telegraphy.

He went to Europe to learn the wisdom of others and discovered the telegraph. Hargreaves, by the upsetting of a machine and the motion of its wheels while upset, discovered the spinning jenny. So, my friend, go on faithfully and promptly with your work, and if you do not get the success you seek, and your plans upset, you will get something just as good and perhaps better. Sail ahead on the voyage of life, keep a correct logbook, brave the tempest, make the best use of the east wind, keep a sharp lookout, and I warrant you in the name of the God of Columbus that if you do not find just what you want of an earthly nature you will find heaven, and that will be better.

What was wornout India, crouching under a tropical sun, compared with salubrious and radiant and almost illimitable America, and what is all that this little world in which we live can afford you compared with that supernal realm whose foliage, and whose fruits, and whose riches, and whose population, and whose grandeurs, and whose worship, and whose Christ make up an affluence that the most rapturous vocabulary fails to utter.

THE WORLD'S INGRATITUDE.

Another look at that career of the admiral of the Santa Maria persuades me that it is not to be expected that this world will do its hard workers full justice. If any man ought to have been treated well from first to last it was Columbus. He had his faults. Let others depict them. But a greater soul the centuries have not produced. This continent ought to have been called Columbia, after the hero who discovered it, or Isabelliana, after the queen who furnished the means for the expedition. No. The world did not do him justice while he was alive, and why should it be expected to do him justice after he was dead? Columbus in a dungeon! What a thought! Columbus in irons! What a spectacle!

The wife of Robert Murray, after whom Murray hill, New York, was named, never has received proper credit for detaining at a very rich luncheon the officers of the opposing army until Washington and his army could escape. Mrs. Murray saved American independence. How the wrong men and the wrong women get credit that does not belong to them, while God's heroes and God's heroines go ungarlanded! You have heard of the brave words of dying chieftains, but you probably never heard of what a private soldier said, fallen at Resaca and bleeding under a shell wound in his mouth, and who, though suffering dreadfully from thirst, when a cup of water was offered him declined to drink, saying, "My mouth is all bloody, sir, and it might make the tin cup bad for others." The world knows little or nothing of the bravest words and the bravest deeds.

In one of the last letters which Columbus sent to his son, he wrote this lamentation: "I receive nothing of the revenue due me. I live by borrowing. Little have I profited by twenty years of service with such toils and perils, since at present I do not own a roof in Spain. If I desire to eat or sleep, I have no recourse but the inn, and for the most times have not wherewithal to pay my bill." Be not surprised, my hearer, if you suffer injustice. You are in the best of company—the men and women who wrought mightily for God and the world's improvement, and got for it chiefly misrepresentation and abuse while they lived, although afterward they may have had a long row of carriages at the obsequies and a gilt edged set of resolutions unanimously adopted for the consolation of the bereft household. Do your full duty, expecting no appreciation in this world, but full reward in the world to come.

And now, while I am thinking of this illustrious ship captain of Genoa, let me bespeak higher appreciation for the ship captains now in service, many of them this moment on the sea, the lives of tens of thousands of passengers in their keeping. What an awful responsibility is theirs! They go out through the Narrows or start from Queenstown or Southampton or Glasgow not knowing what cyclone or collisions or midnight perils are waiting for them. It requires bravery to face an army of men, but far more bravery to face an army of Atlantic surges led on by hurricanes.

A more stupendous scene is not to be witnessed than that of a ship captain walking the bridge of a steamer in the midst of a cyclone! Remember those heroes in your prayers, and when worn out in the service, and they have to command inferior craft or return to the land and go out of service, do them full honor for what they once were. Let the ship companies award them pensions worthy of what they endured until they start on their last voyage from this world to the next. Aye, that voyage we must all take, landsmen as well as seafarers.

Let us be sure that we have the right pilot, and the right chart, and the right captain and that we start in the right direction. It will be to each of us who love the Lord a voyage more wonderful for discovery than that which Columbus took, for after all we have heard about that other world we know not where it is or how it looks, and it will be as new as San Salvador was to the glorious captain of the Santa Maria. "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man."

May the light from that golden beach flash on the darkness, and we be able to step ashore amid groves and orchards and aromas such as this world's atmosphere never ripened or breathed! Aye, fellow mariners, over the rough sea of this life, through the fogs and mists of earth, see you not already the outline of the better country? Land ahead! Land ahead! Nearer and nearer we come to heavenly wharfage. Throw out the planks, and step ashore into the arms of your kindred, who have been waiting and watching for the hour of your disembarkation. Through the rich grace of Christ, our Lord, may we all have such blissful arrival!

ALDERMEN IN SESSION.

Unfinished Business Disposed of at a Meeting of the Council Last Evening.

The Contract Let for the Disposal of the City Garbage—Other Business.

The city council met last evening to deal with unfinished business. The aldermen went to work with unusual energy and disposed of a lot of business in a very short time. Mayor Beaven occupied the chair and there were present Ald. McKillican, Munn, Hunter, Lovell, Bragg, Baker, Styles and Hall.

The city assessor and city engineer reported on the drain which it is proposed to construct on Cadboro Bay road. A list of the property that would be benefitted was given. The total cost of the work is estimated at $1105.68.

Ald. Hunter considered this a farcical use of the local improvement by-law. The improvement is only a temporary one. When the sewer gets up to that portion of the city the residents would have already paid a big sum for sewerage. The council by building the proposed drain was turning the sewerage into the street. A temporary box drain should be built by the council and be used until the council could arrange to have the sewer taken down that street.

Ald. Lovell said the way proposed was the only manner the council could deal with the drain.

Ald. Styles objected to the drain being built by the local improvement system. The council had already almost completed a drain on that street.

Ald. Baker said if the residents were being assessed for a permanent drain it would be all right, but he objected to them being assessed for a wooden box.

The report was laid on the table.

Mr. T. F. Sinclair wrote, stating that the cost of scows to be used in disposing of the city garbage would cost $1100. He would receive the garbage at the foot of Telegraph street. The letter was an answer to one from the board of health, asking Mr. Sinclair to place a price on his scow; as that gentleman in his contract wants the city to purchase his scow if the city should decide to discontinue his contract.

The contract for the disposal of the garbage was awarded to Mr. Sinclair.

Ald. Bragg wished Mr. Winsby's proposal to dispose of the garbage reconsidered. He understood that Mr. Winsby would build a barge for the city for $2500, and run the barge for $125. Mr. Sinclair's contract was for $25 a day.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

Ald. Lovell moved:—

That the attention of the sewerage commissioners be called to the following resolution of the Council, passed on the 24th of August, to which the Council has not yet received any reply.

Moved by Ald. McKillican, seconded by Ald. Lovell and resolved that the attention of the sewerage commissioners be drawn to the fact that the corporation is not, and will not be responsible for any liabilities in any way connected with the sewerage works, including the contract with Mr. McBean and the Terra Cotta company, in excess of the sum realized from the sale of bonds issued under the Sewerage Loan By-Law, 1890, and that the commissioners be informed that the Council desires them to place on deposit in the Bank of British North America, to the credit of the corporation, sufficient funds out of the above loan to provide for the payment of any sum which may become due to Mr. McBean under the terms of the contract, or the Terra Cotta company or to any other firm or persons with whom a contract or agreement has been entered into in connection with the sewerage works.

Ald Hunter could not understand the resolution. He did not think the council had a right to ask the commissioners to place money on deposit in the bank. It is generally understood that the council supply money to the commissioners not the commissioners to the council. The commissioners have a balance to their credit in the bank, and the council cannot ask the commissioners to hand that over to the council. He had heard that the money was safer where it is than in the hands of the council. To his mind the resolution is an unnecessary one. Who would think that the council will be responsible for any money spent beyond the amount voted by the ratepayers.

Ald. Styles—The resolution is certainly remarkable. It seems as though the council suspected the commissioners.

Ald. Munn said there had been too much meddling in sewerage matters by the council. The commission were appointed and he thought the work should have been left alone by the council. The meddling of the council has not done any good, that is certain.

The resolution was carried.

Ald. Styles moved that a communication be addressed to the city representatives in the Dominion Parliament asking them to draw the attention of the Government to the dangerous encroachment of the sea on the foreshore of Dallas road between Oswego and Boyd streets, and also the urgent and absolute necessity of at once constructing a retaining wall to prevent further encroachment, which is fast becoming a dangerous impediment to traffic on the said road.

The mover said the water had wasted a great deal of the bank away. When the Boyd street drain was first built it projected very slightly over the bank. Now it stood out considerably. The Dallas road had cost the city a lot of money, and the Dominion Government should do their share to keep the bank in proper condition.

The Mayor said some attorney-generals claimed that the foreshore belonged to the province. However, the bank that was being washed away belonged to the city.

Ald. Hunter, although he knew it would have as much effect on the Government as water on a duck's back, said he would support the resolution. He had heard that a ship had taken ballast from the place complained of in the resolution. It was the opinion of a great many that even removing the shingle from the foreshore effected the land, so that the Dominion Government could use their authority to prevent the earth from being removed. But if the Dominion Government built the revetment asked the Government was more generous and more just than he gave them credit for.

A few minor amendments were made to the resolution to make it deal with the removal of gravel or earth from the foreshore.

Ald. Styles objected to the aldermen changing his resolution.

Ald. Munn said the resolution became the property of the board when it was brought in, and the council could amend it as they saw necessary.

Ald. Hunter thought the resolution was more useful with the amendments.

The resolution was carried as amended.

Ald. Hall moved that a committee be appointed to enquire into the proposal to erect chemical works in the city.

The mover said it was well known that the fumes from chemical works would destroy vegetation. He thought it would be a benefit to the city to have a committee appointed to enquire into the matter.

Ald. Styles thought the works might or might not be detrimental, and he did not like to throw any obstacle in the way of the industry.

The motion was carried, and Ald. Hall, Baker and Hunter were named as a committee.

Ald. Hall moved that Carr street be widened to 60 feet, the work to be done under the local improvement system.

The mover thought by widening this street it would make a good thoroughfare to the park. Besides this, if Birdcage Walk was extended it would be 60 feet wide and therefore absurd to have to connect with a 30 foot road.

The motion was carried.

REPORTS.

The street lighting committee reported that many of the lights were in a bad condition as the men at present employed had not enough time to look after the lights during the winter. The committee recommended that an additional lamp cleaner be employed.

Ald. McKillican drew attention to the fact that at present one man had to look after 95 lights. Each lamp ought to be cleaned daily and of course one man cannot do that.

Ald. Baker said it was at present costing the city just as much for poor lights as it would for good ones, and therefore something should be done to improve the lights.

The Mayor was quite convinced that it was very necessary to have the lights improved.

The report was laid on the table until funds are provided.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Lindley Crease for W. J. McDowell, stating that the need of a drain on Catharine street, Victoria West, had made Mr. McDowell's house untenable.

The Mayor pointed out that if work like this was done by local improvement many men would be employed.

On motion, it was decided to inform Mr. Crease that the corporation had no funds to do the work.

From residents of Niagara street, complaining of an open drain on that street. Referred to the sanitary inspector and drainage committee.

From Dr. Richard Morrison, directing the council's attention to a petition asking that a drain and sidewalk be constructed on Oak Bay avenue, and that Morrison street be graded.

Ald. Munn thought a ditch should be dug on Oak Bay avenue, as in winter the road is impassable.

Ald. Baker said he had spoken to Dr. Morrison about the walk, but the doctor objected to having the work done under the local improvement by-law.

Ald. Hunter said many works came under the head of maintenance, and therefore much work could be done with the $25,000 which the people voted if the word maintenance was properly construed. If a drain was needed to make a street passable it came under the head of maintenance, and could be built by money out of the $25,000 borrowed.

Dr. Morrison's letter was received and the clerk instructed to inform that gentleman that the council had no funds to do the work.

From Messrs. Eberts and Taylor enclosing a letter from Bodwell and Irving re the case of Dupont vs. the city. The letter stated that Mr. Dupont complained that the nuisance was not being abated with due vigilance. The letter was received and filed.

The council adjourned at 10:30.

The Acids of Fruits.

We know that many vegetable and fruit products are esteemed rather for their pleasant or refreshing taste, and for their anti-scorbutic properties, than for any nutritive value which they may be assumed to possess. Yet even fruits of that character are especially valuable as additions to our daily diet, on account of the potash salts and mild vegetable acids they contribute to the blood. We learn from the "Vegetable Food of the World" that the grateful acid of the rhubarb stalk arises from the malic acid and binoxalate of potash which it contains. The acidity of the lemon, orange and other species of the genus Citrus is caused by the abundance of citric acid which their juices contain; that of the cherry, plum, peach, apple and pear from the malic acid in their pulp; that of the gooseberries and currants, black, white and red, from a mixture of malic and citric acids; that of grapes from a mixture of malic and tartaric acids; that of the mango from the citric acid and a very fugitive essential oil; that of the tamarind from a mixture of citric, malic and tartaric acids; the flavor of asparagus from aspartic acid, found also in the root of the marsh mallow; and that of the cucumber from a peculiar poisonous ingredient called fungin, which is found in many species of fungi, and is the cause of the cucumber being objectionable to some persons. It will be observed that rhubarb is the only product which contains binoxalate of potash in conjunction with an acid. It is this ingredient which renders rhubarb so wholesome at the early part of the summer, though in certain cases, known to medical men, its use may be injurious.

COMOX DISGUSTED.

TO THE EDITOR:—The Davie Government has kept nagging at the Comox school trustees, till they have got so disgusted with it that they have resigned in a body, and have called a special meeting for the 31st inst. for the election of others. I believe they have sent a special invitation to Dr. Pope to be present, so that he may have a public opportunity of explaining how his conduct helps to advance the cause of education in this district. They have informed him that they have not been able to secure a certificated teacher suitable for their school, and have asked him to grant a temporary certificate to one whom they consider suitable. Instead of doing his duty, as pointed out in the school act, and granting a temporary, and thus aiding the trustees, he keeps urging them to do their duty and to appoint some certificated teacher, which can only mean that they must stultify themselves and appoint some teacher whom they do not consider suitable for their school. Is it any wonder that school trustees look upon the education department of the Davie Government with contempt?

AN ANCIENT AMERICAN TOWN.

Some of the Queer Features of Laguna, New Mexico.

Laguna is built upon a rounded elevation of rock. Its appearance is exactly that of a Syrian village, the same cluster of little, square, flat-roofed houses in terraces, the same brown color, and under the same pale blue sky. And the resemblance was completed by the figures of the women on the roofs; or moving down the slope, erect and supple, carrying on the head a water-jar, and holding together by one hand the mantle worn like a Spanish rebozo. The village is irregularly built, without much regard to streets or alleys, and it has no special side of entrance or approach. Every side presents a blank wall of adobe, and the entrance seems quite by chance. Yet the way we went over the smooth slope was worn here and there in channels three or four inches deep, as if by the passing feet of many generations. The only semblance of architectural regularity is in the plaza, not perfectly square, upon which some of the houses look, and where the annual dances take place. The houses have the effect of being built in terraces rising one above the other, but it is hard to say exactly what a house is—whether it is any thing more than one room. You can reach some of the houses only by the aid of a ladder. You enter others from the street. If you will go further, you must climb a ladder, which brings you to the roof, that is used as the sitting-room or door-yard of the next room. From this room you may still ascend to others, or you may pass through low and small doorways to other apartments. It is all hap-hazard, but exceedingly picturesque. You may find some of the family in every room, or they may be gathered, women and babies, on a roof which is protected by a parapet. At the time of our visit the men were all away at work in their fields. Notwithstanding the houses are only sun-dried bricks, and the village is without water or street commissioners, I was struck by the universal cleanliness. There was no refuse in the corners or alleys, no odors, and many of the rooms were patterns of neatness. To be sure, an old woman here and there kept her hens in an adjoining apartment above her own, and there was the litter of children and of rather careless housekeeping. But, taken altogether, the town is an example for some more civilized, whose inhabitants wash oftener and dress better than these Indians.—Charles Dudley Warner, in Harper's Magazine.

Electric Motors for Small Workshops.

When electric light mains are laid along all the streets of our towns and cities as the gas and water mains are now laid, and the producers of electric power are prepared to supply consumers by day as well as by night with electricity at a reasonable rate, we shall see a rapid development in small electro-motors. Poor dressmakers, now bent double over sewing-machines whilst performing treadmill motion, and wearing out their lives in a ceaseless round of monotonous labour, will then be able to sit or stand, as they please, at machines erected at a suitable elevation, and find pleasure in guiding the work under the swift, regular movements of needles impelled by electro-motors. Ladies will be able to to amuse themselves by embroidery with suitable machinery, whilst their servants in the kitchen are grinding the coffee, making mincemeat, cleaning knives and metal work, and other domestic work, done by machines driven by electro-motors connected by a switch with the electric mains. Shoemakers in their home workshops will be able to stitch uppers and close the boots and shoes at a rapid rate with a minimum of personal labour; jewellers will find pleasure in working polishing-lathes driven by electrical power; dentists will find small motors convenient for driving dental lathes; and hair-brushing by machinery will receive a fresh impetus. Small gas-engines and oil-engines and water-motors will then have to give place to the electro-motor in small printing establishments, butchers' shops, groceries, and bakeries, in working printing presses, and in driving sausage-chopping, fruit cleaning, and mixing machines.—Cassell's Work.
